Although the republicans were in a majority in the convention, they are not a unit in supporting the new constitution, nor are the democrats standing solidly against it.

In personnel the New York election calls for the choice of a full assembly of 150 members, eleven supreme court justices and three representatives in Congress, as well as county and city officials in some sections of the state.

Congressional successors are to be chosen to Joseph A. Goulden, democrat, of the twenty-third district, and Edwin A. Merritt, jr., and Sereno E. Payne of the thirty-first and thirty-sixth, respectively, who died while serving in the last Congress. The candidates are William S. Bennett, republican, and Elsworth J. Healy. democrat, both of New York, in the twenty-third district; Bertrand H. Snell of Potsdam, republican; William L. Allen of Malone, democrat, and Howard D. Hadley of Plattsburg, progressive, and Louis J. Licht of Geneva, democrat, in the thirty-sixth.

New Jersey Lacks Issues.

Having disposed of the suffrage is sue at the special election October 19, New Jersey has left little of general interest for the election of November 2. Voting on this day will be confined to the election of gix members of the state senate and a full membership of sixty in the house. The campaign has been very quiet, no state-wide issues being involved. In some legislative districts local option has been an issue.

The elections in the elections that will be held in the United States this fall, and, as will be noted, the voting is confined entirely to states east of the Mississippi river.

A successor to Gov. David I. Walsh, democrat, is to be elected, and the candidates, including Gov. Walsh, are Nelson B. Clark, progressive; Samuel W. McCall, republican; William Shaw, prohibition; Walter S. Hutchins, socialist, and Peter O'Rou'rke, socialist-labor.

A lieutenant governor and various other state officials, together with forty senators and 240 members of the state house of representatives, are also to be elected.

Pennsylvania Elections Local.

Pennsylvania will have comparatively little of general interest to its election outside of the vote on the suffrage question. No state officers are to be lected with the exception of three candidates to fill vacancies on the su-

Maryland to Elect Governor. Maryland will elect a governor, con roller of the state treasury, attorney half of the state senate. In addition four constitutional amendments will be voted upon, and local minor officers will voted upon, and local minor officers will be chosen in the counties and Baltimore city. Candidates to succeed Gov. Goldsborough, republican, are: Ovington E. Weller, republican; Emerson C. Harrington, democrat, and George R. Gorsuch, prohibitionist.

The constitutional amendments are for the referendum, a new taxation scheme, home rule for cities and parole in criminal cases. The referendum plan is practically the same as that followed in other states, except that the Mary-is practically the same as that followed in other states, except that the Maryland proposition includes a prohibition against the use of the referendum in any local option or license legislation. If the home rule amendment carries the legislature will be relieved of a vast amount of purely local legislation, which would be vested in the city and county councils; while the taxation amendment provides for the classification of all kinds of property for the purpose of taxation.

Prohibition in Ohio. There will be general interest in the election in Ohio for the reason that state-wide prohibition of the liquor raffic is an issue again this year, as it was last year in the form of a proposed onstitutional amendment, which would forbid the sale or manufacture for sale of any alcoholic beverages. The "wets" have countered this proposal with petitions under the initiative and referendum law by which the people will also vote on another provision, which would prevent the submission of any constitutional amendment more than twice in Public Health Surgeons Report on Results of a Year's Experimenting.

Complete success of the dietary treat ment, both in preventing and permanently curing pellagra, the southern courge, is described in reports made public by the public health service. Surgeons of the service have spent the past year experimenting with hundreds of patients in Georgia and Mississippi. More than a year ago the service announced that preliminary tests had lemonstrated that pellagra was caused by improper diet and that elimination of this cause would cure the disease. Since then three experiment stations have been established, two at Jackson, Miss., and the other at the Georgia

State Sanitarium. In them a large number of pellagra

"The available data thus point to a lessened financial ability of southern wage earners' families to provide a properly balanced diet, as well as a decrease in the availability (measured by retail prices) of an animal protein food supply for the wage-working population, particularly since about 1907 or 1908."

The appearance of a White House automobile at the crub in front of the city hall late yesterday afternoon caused a stir among the clerks and officials, as a rumor spread that an emissary had arrived to procure a marriage license for President Wilson. Clerk Kroll, who presides over the bliss counter, assumed an expectant air and waited for the arrival of the President's messenger.
